Brief

What we want you to work on

Bosco, 32, lives in Denver with his wife and five children. He has been working as dishwasher for a year and struggles to support his familiy finacially. He has a primary education and has worked as an unskilled day laborer in Congo since he was 14. Bosco speaks Kinyarwanda and Swahili fluently, is proficient in French, and speaks very basic English. He works long days and besides the people he meets at work he mostly meets with other refugees from Africa.

"I want to learn a vocational skill that I can use to get an entry level job. Eventually, I hope to increase my skills and thereby increase my income so that I can help pay for the education of my children."

Task: Come up with one idea of how to empower Bosco to create opportunities for improved employment and the ability to earn a living over time.

Process

5 min individual ideation (Thoughts)

THIRI AUNG

Brief

What we want you to work on

Thiri Aung, 27, came to London half a year ago. She is a widow with two children, 3 and 4 yrs. She just got a job as dishwasher and is happy to earn her first salary. However, the job means long hours, including 2 hrs commuting each day, and she is very tired in the evenings. Thiri Aung has some secondary education and worked for six years as a waitress in a camp in Thailand. She speaks Burmese and some very basic English.

"As I am the sole caretaker of my children, ideally I want to find a job that allows some flexibility. My dream is to start my own restaurant in my new neighborhood."

Task: Come up with one idea of how to empower Thiri Aung to create opportunities for improved employment and the ability to earn a living over time.

MOHAMMED

Platforms for Post-crisis Recovery

Brief

What we want you to work on

Mohammed, 45, lives in NYC with his 8 year old son. His wife is still in a refugee camp in Iraq with two of his younger children. Mohammed escaped to the US half a year ago and has now managed to get his first job as a dishwasher, which makes a huge difference in his ability to support himself and his son. He has a Civil Engineering Degree and spent 15 years working for the Government of Syria as a civil engineer. He speaks Arabic and French fluently as well as some English.

"I want to earn enough money to safely bring my wife and children to live with us here in the US. Down the line, I hope to be able to work as an engineer again."

Task: Come up with one idea of how to empower Mohammed to create opportunities for improved employment and the ability to earn a living over time.
